

Submission
Jennifer O'Neill to: csg.review

27/04/2013 07:39 PM

History: This message has been replied to and forwarded .

---

From: oneill.jen@hotmail.com
To: csg.review@chiefscientist.nsw.gov.au
Subject: Submission
Date: Sat, 27 Apr 2013 19:33:48 +1000

Dear Chief Scientist

I strongly support the BGSPA submission you have received referring to the situation in Gloucester.

Please do everything in your power to halt CSG projects until the effects of this industry here and overseas have been considered by independent scientists over the long term . I believe that information from extractive industry companies is inherently biased and to date in Australia rigorous independent scientific exploration has been dangerously limited . The future of our health, earning capacity, water and food security is at stake. The risks are too high to proceed in this industry without absolute certainty of safety . While individuals and private landholders have not had the scientific background or funding to prove that their poor health and bubbling water are direct results of CSG activities , the fact that these problems occurred only after CSG began needs to be investigated , over a long term of independent study.

I also ask you to consider evidence of Doctors for the Environment on known health effects of CSG.

Regards

Jennifer O'Neill

Concerned resident and parent .